In the early nineteenth century the chief means of livelihood in lower Westchester County was growing wheat and raising livestock; between 1800 and 1830 the population rose from 1,755 to 3,023. There was a brief period of industrial growth during the War of 1812 when paint, glass, pottery, and bleaching factories opened in West Farms. At the time of first contact in the 17th century they were primarily based in what is now Dutchess County, New York, but their territory included the east bank of the Hudson in what became both Putnam and Westchester counties. Rensselaer County /rɛnsəˈlɪər/ is a county in the U.S. State of New York. As of the 2010 census, the population was 159,429. Its county seat is Troy. The county is named in honor of the family of Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, the original Dutch owner of the land in the area. The property is known for being home during the time of the American Revolution to the Hoboken Turtle Club, founded by a ... The ships and troops remain in Newport until June 1781, when they will move toward Washington's encampment in Westchester County, preparatory to a cooperative engagement with the Americans against the British. Sep 19, 2016 · The American Revolution was a civil war. It may have given rise to a republic in which the foundation for government legitimacy is a democratic citizenry offering its voluntary consent to law. Jan 26, 2017 · Women played critical roles in the American Revolution and subsequent war for independence. Husband at his artillery piece, firing at the oncoming British. In a similar vein, Margaret Corbin was severely wounded during the British assault on Fort Washington in November 1776 and left for dead alongside her husband, also an artilleryman. May 22, 2019 · Deborah Sampson was a woman who disguised herself as a man and fought as a soldier in the Continental Army during the American Revolution. She was one of only a small number of women who fought in the Revolutionary War and was later awarded a pension for her military service.

The Bronx County Historical Society - Bronx History
In the early nineteenth century the chief means of livelihood in lower Westchester County was growing wheat and raising livestock; between 1800 and 1830 the population rose from 1,755 to 3,023. There was a brief period of industrial growth during the War of 1812 when paint, glass, pottery, and bleaching factories opened in West Farms.

Wappinger - Wikipedia
The Wappinger (/ˈwɒpɪnʤər/) were an Eastern Algonquian Munsee-speaking Native American people from what is now southern New York and Rogers—best known for his frontier exploits as a major during the French and Indian War—and his exploits during the French and Indian War, Robert Rogers (1732-1795) was indisputably the most famous military leader born in the thirteen colonies; however, he played only a cameo role in the Revolution because both the British and American commanders-in-chief, Thomas Gage and George Washington, not only scorned him but actually arrested him for treason.

Major Robert Rogers and the American Revolution - Journal
Nov 23, 2021 · After his exploits during the French and Indian War, Robert Rogers (1732-1795) was indisputably the most famous military leader born in the thirteen colonies; however, he played only a cameo role in the Revolution because both the British and American commanders-in-chief, Thomas Gage and George Washington, not only scorned him but actually arrested him for treason.

Women in the American Revolution | American Battlefield Trust
Jan 26, 2017 · Women played critical roles in the American Revolution and subsequent War for Independence. husband at his artillery piece, firing at the oncoming British. In a similar vein, Margaret Corbin was severely wounded during the British assault on Fort Washington in November 1776 and left for dead alongside her husband, also an artilleryman.

Deborah Sampson: Woman Warrior of the American Revolution
May 22, 2019 · Deborah Sampson was a woman who disguised herself as a man and fought as a soldier in the Continental Army during the American Revolution. She was one of only a small number of women who fought in the Revolutionary War and was later awarded a pension for her military service.

Actual Sons of the American Revolution - Massachusetts Society
Mar 31, 2017 · A recognized patriot; member of committees during the Revolution; on the retreat of the British from Lexington and Concord, April 19, 1775, he withstood the assault of several British soldiers, at Menotomy (now Arlington), killing two of them; he was terribly wounded and bayonetted, but, although nearly eighty years old, he survived eighteen

White Plains, NY - Official Website | Official Website
May 17, 2021 · Westchester Town Hall Series: An Open Conversation on Covid-19, Thursday, January 28th, 2021 6PM with Mayor Roach, County Exec. Latimer, Commissioner of the Dept of Health, Dr. Sherlipta Amler,
Academic Minute | Student Stress and Mental Health During
Nov 10, 2021 · Student Stress and Mental Health During the Pandemic In today's Academic Minute, the University of California, Irvine's Mahtab Jafari explores the effects. Jafari is a professor in the School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences at UC Irvine.

John Jay - HISTORY
Jan 28, 2010 · John Adams (1735-1826) was a leader of the American Revolution and served as the second U.S. president from 1797 to 1801. The Massachusetts-born, Harvard-educated Adams began his career as a lawyer.